diagnosed 2003

My battle started on the morning of February 10, 2003. I awoke only to realize I was paralyzed from the waist down. For a 20 year old, this can be very detrimental. After five days in the hospital, multiple tests, and a handful of doctors, I was told I had multiple sclerosis and may never walk again. At this point I only had two options: either give up and let MS take control over me or fight this disease. After short deliberation, I decided I was going to fight this disease. After five months of intense therapy and support from family and friends, I started walking again for the first time. From that point on, I knew I could do anything I put my mind to. Although there are many rough days when I can barely move, I say to myself I must keep moving forward. I cannot let this disease get the upper hand. Through many trials and tribulations and only three months from the time I started walking again, I decided to take on the challenge of riding in Bike MS. Last year, I rode for the second time to commemorate ten years of living with this disease. Since last year I have made a personal vow to ride every year until a cure is found and we no longer will need to ride in order to raise money. Many people question and ask why I ride with MS. That is very easy. I ride for a couple different reasons: I ride to prove that MS will not take over my life and I also ride for those with MS who cannot ride. This is why I ride!!
